

Things to Do with Kids

The Wildlife areas are one of the big draws in Los Banos. If you would like to expose your kids to wildlife in a fun way you might want to check out the Grassland Environmental Education Center at Los Banos Wildlife area. Here, young and old alike will be educated and entertained with hands-on interactions with animals, birds and other marvels of nature that can be found in our area. This is open to individuals and groups.

Los Banos boasts a real commitment to outdoor spaces that provide many opportunities for family recreation. With over 30 parks that feature play equipment, picnic areas, BBQs, basketball courts, tennis courts and even soccer fields, you could spend days exploring all these parks have to offer. Many of these parks are tucked into various residential areas throughout the community.

For young people that like skateboarding, Los Banos has a nice skateboard park as part of the Colorado Park. Here they will find various jumps and rails and chances to practice and display their skateboarding skills.

If your family likes to bike or jog, there are two developed trails that are easily accessible. The first is the H.G. Fawcett Trail that runs along the canal. You can park your car at the entrance on Pioneer Rd. and begin the trail which ends almost two miles later at I St. This tree-lined walk is fully paved.

The other option is the Rail Trail, which is a fairly new trail the City has developed. It runs from Highway 165 on the East and cuts through the downtown area and ends at Second St. This one mile trail is also paved. Both trails offer an exercise course, park benches and water fountains along the way for your convenience and are wheelchair accessible.
